

Donny is having dinner with his newly hired public relations specialist, MIKAYLA (40's African-American. Beautiful, smart, savvy, all-business and effortlessly sexy). She's helping him clear the air after compliments he gave a black guy on his show are misconstrued.

INT. DONNY'S HOUSE - DINING AREA - DAY

Donny sits at his dining table across from Mikayla.

A CHEF clears their plates.

DONNY

Remember Howard Schultz and the whole Starbucks thing?

MIKAYLA

Where the baristas were supposed to talk about race with customers while making double skim no-whip mochas for minimum wage? Terrible idea.

DONNY

I kind of admire the guy. At least he was doing something. He was trying. With all due respect to your advice, I feel like it's cheating just to throw money at the situation -- at some charity -- and call it a day. I'm thinking more along the lines of an initiative.

MIKAYLA

I'm thinking more along the lines of...not talking about work anymore. You tried really hard to get me here, remember?

DONNY

You're right.

He leans over, grabs her hand.

DONNY (CONT'D)

You are so sexy.

MIKAYLA

As are you. I'm usually not attracted to white guys.

DONNY

So, am I the first white guy you've dated?

MIKAYLA

The second. The first was an MMA fighter.

DONNY

Wow, an MMA fighter. You like big guys?

MIKAYLA

Well, I just got out of a long relationship with an indie filmmaker. I guess he's a big guy, but he was sensitive, too.

DONNY

Anybody I know?

MIKAYLA

Google it later. I didn't come here to talk about him.

DONNY

I'm not a big guy.

MIKAYLA

Donny, I know who you are.

DONNY

I wish I didn't know about the MMA fighter.

MIKAYLA

Are you OK?

DONNY

Can I be honest. I'm a little worried that, if I'm so lucky as to get you in bed, I'm going to be the smallest guy you've ever been with.

MIKAYLA

There's only one way to find out...