

MRS WALKER

How's your new semester going? I imagine well knowing how well you've always done in school. Now last I remember you were interviewing for some associates jobs-

MICHAELA

I'm not giving the ring back. Aiden gave to me with the promise that we would spend the rest of our lives together, this technically means it was not an engagement ring and according to the Pennsylvania supreme court case of lindh v surma

MRS WALKER

I'm not here for the ring. Michaela I'm here for you. Whatever this break you and Aiden have been on its lasted long enough

MICHAELA

tell your son that

MRS WALKER

I did many times. Let me be clear here. I was unfair to you. I apologize for that and all the hurtful things I said to you. I have seen the error of my ways and you're not the girl I said you were. I know he acts strong but hes waiting for you-

MICHAELA

I am that girl. The one that tried to slap you from the back water bayou that southern ghetto trash. I just spent a long time trying to hide her away so I can claim the prince. Your shining black perfect son of a prince and I did, but that girl isn't me.

MRS WALKER

sweetheart, I know what you're trying to do here, win this contest between us but this is not some ploy I want you in our family he just needs a little prodding that's all-

MICHAELA

Hes gay. Mrs. walker Aidan's gay or bi or experimental. I don't know what he is but i think you do or else you would not be here scared and nervous begging a girl you do not like very much to marry your son. I'm sorry, he doesn't love me but here's the thing I love me. So I'm done.
